FEBRUARY IS DATING VIOLENCE AWARENESS MONTH

Dating Violence is much more than physical abuse

Victims can be abused in a variety of ways resulting in long-term damage to their identity. If you believe you or someone you know may be in an abusive relationship reach out and talk to a trusted friend, family member, counselor, or contact a hotline specializing in abuse.

YOUR IMPRINT HERE

Relationships exist when BOTH are supported and connected & independent.

YOUR IMPRINT HERE

Support: Your partner has a right to their own feelings, friends, activities and opinions.

Communicate: When issues arise, talk through them instead of making assumptions.

Partnership: Make financial information available to both partners.

Equality: Mutually agree on fair distribution of work and responsibilities.

Accountable: Take responsibility for yourself and your actions.

Supportive: Support your partner's goals through praise.
